CONSTRUCTION UPDATE

The construction of Shelton's new campus continues to progress on schedule. The exterior skin, windows, and roof are now complete; entrance ways and external doors will be bid on and installed in December. Over 75% of the wall-studding has been installed and over 50% of the sheetrock has been completed. Everything is on schedule, and the programs on the 15th Street Campus are scheduled to move by the latter part of April 1996.

Planning for Phase II is also going well. Bids for this second phase will go out in early February 1996, and construction for this second phase will be completed in the late spring of 1997.

Construction for the new roadway connecting Highway 69 into the campus will begin in early December with a completion date scheduled for May 1996. This roadway will have traffic signals and turn lanes to help with traffic flow.

PHILIP COLEMAN JOINS SHELTON STATE

Tuscaloosa television personality Philip Coleman recently joined the staff of Shelton State Community College as director of cooperative education. Coleman's office will be located on the C.A. Fredd Campus.

"We are happy to have Philip Coleman at Shelton. We have known Philip for many years. He is a quality person and a true professional. He will be an asset to Shelton State," said Shelton President Tom Umphrey.

Coleman is a native of Tuscaloosa and a graduate of the Tuscaloosa City School System. He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Alabama in 1978 with a major in broadcast and film communication.

Since 1986 Coleman has been a reporter, weekend anchor and live phone-in talk show host at WCFT Channel 33 in Tuscaloosa. Before joining Channel 33, he was a reporter and talk show host with Channel 5 WKRG-TV in Mobile, Channel 4 KOB-TV in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and Channel 31 WAAY-TV in Huntsville. (cont. on page 3)

Coleman entered the field of radio and television in 1978 when he began his career as a reporter, anchor, and talk show host on radio station WTBC AM and WUOA-FM in Tuscaloosa. In 1988 he was named the recipient of the Alabama Associated Press Television Award for the Best Reporter. He currently serves on the board of directors for the Tuscaloosa Child Abuse Prevention Services.

In his new position, Coleman will be responsible for working with local businesses to find jobs for students in Shelton's cooperative education program.

FACES 'N PLACES

BRENDA RYAN and LINDA GROTE, sponsors of Shelton's Phi Theta Kappa chapter, recently presented a leadership forum session at the National Honor Society Conference in Birmingham. This conference was sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

BRENDA RYAN also presented during a session at the Alabama Association for Developmental Education that was held in Birmingham. The session was on "Total Quality Management in the Developmental Class."

MILADY MURPHY, director of the Wellness Center, continues to be a sought-after speaker. She has been invited again to speak at the annual Wellness Conference that will be held this year in Chattanooga, Tennessee, in April. On November 15, the National Association of Educational Buyers will present their southeast regional conference at the Bryant Conference Center. Dr. Murphy will serve as the keynote speaker and will talk on "Preventing Disease through Education in Exercise, Nutrition, and Stress Management:

A Wellness Perspective." Buyers from across the southeast will be at the conference.

On November 27, Murphy will speak to the faculty and staff of Vance Elementary School about diet, health, and productivity. The principal of Vance is concerned about the health of his instructors and feels this is a good opportunity to educate faculty and staff about the importance of lifestyle in relationship to productivity in the workplace.

MUSIC AND POETRY

The Shelton State music department presents a very special evening. "Poetry in Music" will be held Thursday, November 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the Skyland Auditorium. Poetry by well-known British and American poets will be read aloud by various Shelton instructors and then presented in choral music.

Performers include the Shelton Singers, Arthur Howington, Fran Viselli, Joyce Jolly, Linda Grote, Wynora Freeman, Carole Johnson, Fran Turner, and David Sandy.

Tickets are $3 for Shelton faculty and students and $5 for general admission. Tickets are available from music students or by calling 391-2344. Tickets will also be available at the door.

THREE LOCAL GROUPS PLEDGE SUPPORT

Three local organizations recently made pledges totaling $47,500 to Shelton State's Capital Campaign. The total pledges include cash, equipment, and in-kind services.

Randall Publishing Company's gift includes a pledge to the college's equipment fund along with plaques and other speciality items. Also, as part of their pledge, Randall Publishing Company will sponsor (cont. on page 4) a six-week luncheon seminar series beginning January 15 entitled "Business at Lunch." The seminar will be offered at Indian Hills County Club in Tuscaloosa for six consecutive Mondays.

The Business at Lunch seminar includes lunch along with talks by executives from Randall Publishing Company. The purpose of the seminar is to help small business owners or those who are thinking about entering the business world meet the challenges and opportunities that come from owning their own businesses.

"We appreciate the gift from Randall Publishing Company very much. Their generosity will not only help us purchase instructional equipment, but their donation of specialty items will allow the college to accomplish these unique goals," said Tom Umphrey, Shelton President.

Southern Heat Exchanger President John Brilbeck pledged money toward the college's equipment fund that will be used to purchase equipment for technical training on the new campus.

"John Brilbeck and Southern Heat Exchanger are long time friends of our institution. They support the college financially and with their time. Southern Heat Exchanger has employed many of our graduates over the years," said Umphrey.

The Tuscaloosa Automobile Dealers Association also made a pledge to the Capital Campaign, and their gift will also be used for equipment and instructional materials.

According to Umphrey, Shelton is extremely pleased that the Tuscaloosa New Automobile Association has chosen to generously support the college. "Tommy Townsend, Verta Barr Meherg, and the entire association are outstanding leaders in our community. Their expression of support means a great deal," Umphrey said.

SMALL ENGINE REPAIR SEMINAR

TUSCALOOSA SMALL Motors hosted the annual update seminar for Murray and Kohler recently on the Fredd Campus. Murray specialists, Grady Hester and Neal Feivet, conducted the morning session. Kohler Training specialist, David Cash, conducted the afternoon session. These workshops are usually held through local parts companies such as Tuscaloosa Small Motors. This is the third year the seminar has been held at the small engine department on the Fredd Campus.

"Our Small Engine Advisory Committee continues to be very instrumental in bringing the seminar to Shelton," said Johnny Morrow, small engine instructor. "Two members of the committee, Richard Matthews and Frank Brown, are associated with Tuscaloosa Small Motors. We have had excellent participation from other committee members in attending the seminar."

The purpose of the seminar was to help dealers, mechanics, and instructional programs keep abreast of new equipment, advance techniques in servicing equipment, and warranty regulations.

The seminar provided hands-on training to approximately 60 to 65 participants from west central Alabama and east central Mississippi.

TeamSPIRIT UPDATE

The fourth SI team has been selected and the fifth and final team is now in the selection process. A final update on the SI teams will be given in the next issue of THE CHRONICLE.
